

Puppy Raising Program

How Can I Give Them Up?

A comment frequently heard from people is, “Oh, I could never raise a puppy and give it back!”

A Puppy Raiser will definitely fall in love with and bond strongly to the puppy. This strong bond lays an important foundation for the puppy’s future relationship with its partner; one based on trust, love and mutual respect.

In accepting the responsibility of raising a puppy, the Puppy Raiser must understand that his/her success means making a gift of love to someone who needs the dog, not just loves it.

To realize that the puppy you raised is improving the quality of life for another human being is the ultimate reward for the personal sacrifice. It’s such a great feeling, that many puppy raisers do it over and over again.

CCI Graduate Ayla and her Skilled Companion, Landon

For more information, please call
1-800-572-BARK